SPOTLIGHT

Summer 2022

Pathways to Promise & Mental Health Ministries

Welcome to the Summer 2022 edition of the Pathways to Promise Spotlight! Here you will find resources and news you can use to support your mental health journey.

Website Resources

Check out Pathways to Promise and Mental Health Ministries' Resources. Resources under Mental Health Ministries:

- Devotionals - scroll down to click on "Learn more" in the Mental Health Ministries section
- Resources Videos - click on Mental Health Promise Resources in the Mental Health Ministries section

Have a resource you'd like to share? We are looking to improve the Resources section. Please email us at pathwaystopromise@cau.edu to suggest a resource to be added to the website.

Interested in a shorter monthly Spotlight instead of the current quarterly Spotlight?

This shorter monthly Spotlight would consist of resources that will focus on preparing you month by month for upcoming events and holidays happening online and around the world, pertaining to mental health and wellness.

Yes

No

Maybe

Exchanging Social Media for Mental Health Social Helping

Photo by Cassandra Hill on Unsplash

By: George B. Williams, PhD

Pathways to Promise

As social media proliferates worldwide with Facebook alone boasting 2.96 billion users concerns about its impact on individual and collective well-being have grown significantly. Despite the widespread use of these platforms, social media's relationship with mental health remains complex, with both positive effects on mental health. In the metaphor by the Walt Disney Corporation that facilitated new aware of the mental health benefits of social media platforms, Mickey Mouse is the "Good Mouse."

Mental Health Risks

Research has consistently shown that social media use is linked to increased mental health problems, including depression, anxiety, and loneliness. A study published in the American Journal of Preventive Medicine found that using social media was 31 times per day led to significant reductions in depression and loneliness. Another study in the Journal of Adolescence found that cyberbullies victimization perpetrated by social media are particularly damaging, especially in adolescents during critical periods of identity development.

Physical Health Concerns

In addition to mental health impacts, excessive use of social media can lead to physical health problems. Prolonged screen time is associated with poor sleep quality and sedentary lifestyles, contributing to a range of health issues such as obesity, cardiovascular diseases, and musculoskeletal problems.[1] The constant need to check notifications can also disrupt sleep patterns and overall health.

Academic and Job Performance

Social media can be a significant distraction and performance by consuming time that could be spent on more productive activities. A study in the Journal of Applied Developmental Psychology indicated that students who frequently used social media had lower academic performance, largely due to the distraction it creates.[2] Similarly, in the workplace, employees who use social media excessive time on social media exhibit reduced efficiency and job satisfaction.

Privacy and Security Risks

Privacy and security concerns are significant when it comes to social media. Users often share personal information without fully understanding the potential consequences. Data breaches and misuse of personal data by social media companies, as well as personal risks by social media companies themselves, as highlighted in the Cambridge Analytica scandal.[3]

The Issue of Loneliness

One of the most powerful issues in the U.S. today is loneliness. Despite being more connected than ever, many individuals report feeling lonely. This paradox can exacerbate feelings of loneliness and inadequacy by presenting an illusion of connection while lacking genuine social interaction. A study showed people who frequently used social media platforms like Facebook were more likely to be isolated.[4] Studies have found that there to face themselves are crucial for mental health and can significantly reduce feelings of loneliness.[5]

The Role of Compassionate Care

Our Compassionate Care program exists how to support individuals in navigating their mental health challenges, especially those exacerbated by factors mentioned to social. We provide a safe and equally beneficial for youth. Training also fosters a compassionate care and supply them with the skills to support individuals in their mental health journeys.

A Call to Action

Let's work to curtail some of our social media into social helping tools. We, as a society, must recognize the potential harm that social media can pose. Additionally, we can improve our mental health and well-being. This will be a start with small steps, such as setting limits on daily social media use or engaging in more face-to-face interactions. Together, we can work to create a

1. Boyle, K. (2018). I'll Probably Watch It Tomorrow. Retrieved from https://www.researchgate.net/publication/328...
2. Junco, G. Paul, MD, Madison, CH, Individuals' problematic social media use and psychiatric disorders: The Mary Ellen Case. Journal of Adolescence, 2012
3. Perrin, Andrew, Anderson, Monica, Pew Research Center, 2019, "Share of U.S. adults using social media, including Facebook, is mostly unchanged since 2018"
4. Shaw, A., Timpano, K., Tran, T., & Joormann, J. (2015). Correlates of Facebook usage patterns: The relationship between passive Facebook use, social anxiety symptoms, and brooding. Computers in Human Behavior, 52, 575-580. doi:10.1016/j.chb.2015.06.016
5. Sanchez-Cardona I, Rivera E, Vilches I, Pinedo-Villanueva R, Valladares M. Improving loneliness in social network in older adults: A systematic review. Campbell Syst Rev. 2021;17(3):e1180.
6. Schaefer, S. A., & Greitemeyer, T. (2021). The Perceived Social Network Site Experience: Development, and Further Tests of Connectedness and Well-Being. Social Psychological and Personality Science, 12(7), 1241–1251.

Explore Upcoming Training Events to Become a Companion or Community Trainer

Become a Companion Workshop

The Become a Companion Workshop equips veterans individuals to reach out to those in distress, offering vital skills to provide social support as they navigate difficult times. Participants will learn how to identify signs of distress, engage in person conversations and connect with relevant support. In Companionship, we employ Offer for Assistance through genuine human connection, fostering resilience and hope within our community and helping to heal as neighbors and as growing Suicide Survivors and veterans.

Learn about the revolutionary Companionship Model which has five important components: hospitality, togetherness, safe by-ways, learning, and accompaniment. You will gain an understanding of how to move from a transactional encounter to a transformational one, and how to overcome barriers to meaningful and lifelong fellows.

Upcoming Workshop

Tuesday, September 13 - 10AM, 4 PM and 7PM
Central, Hybrid(In and Online)

Register For Become a Companion

Community Trainer Training

Do you want to be Companionship Companionship? Apply to be trained as a Community Trainer! This one-day course includes:

- Become a Companion, a three hour workshop that teaches participants how to provide companionship. Companionship that equips them to come alongside a person in distress.
- Community Trainer Training, an eight hour training that teaches people to train the Become a Companionship workshop themselves.

Upcoming Training

Tues, September 27, 2022, 9 A pm CT
PLUS Sat., September 10, 2022, 9 am to 5 pm CT
Application Deadline: Thursday, September 15th

You are encouraged to complete the application by date then September 15th.

For more information and to register/apply, click here!

Attend Taste of Companionship

Taste of Companionship is a virtual event that is open to veterans, active duty servicemen and women, or a friend with an hour. Our volunteer Andrea Sr. George, participates as evidence.

- Wednesday, August 24 at 6 PM CT, led by Rita Kopparmina, National Director

All of the following articles from websites other than pathwaystopromise.org are intended as a library of resources only. Pathways to Promise does not benefit from these.

JULY

These resources are helpful for the month of July, although intended to highlight themes from the Mental Health calendar for July.

July is BIPOC Month

Mental Health Resources for Black, Indigenous And People of Color

"The way we speak about one other influence the way we think about them. In the field of mental health, we use terms with "person first" language. This is language that prioritizes the identity of individuals as human beings before their diagnosis. For example, instead of referring to someone as a For example, we would describe someone as "a person with schizophrenia" and refer to them as "people with schizophrenia."

Click here to read more

July is Disability Pride Month

Disability Pride Month celebrates disabled persons embracing their disabilities as a source of pride rather than shame. Disability pride is a movement celebrating fully with their disabilities and in the open, and rejecting shame and internalized ableism. It is time for the disability community to come together, to celebrate our culture and our identities, and to fight for our rights. Disability is described as "acquiring and learning self-control in uniqueness and seeing it as a natural and beautiful part of life."

Click here to learn more

July is Bebe Moore Campbell National Minority Mental Health Awareness Month

"Mental health affects us all, and everyone deserves the inherent right to have their mental health needs met and treated with dignity. Yet, people of color and their communities continue to have crucial and serious disparities of stigma, access, or fear of judgment. These have created significant barriers that prevent individuals from seeking and receiving mental health care."

Click here to learn more

International Self Care Day - July 24

How to Celebrate International Self-Care Day on July 24th

"When many people think of self-care, the act of doing a few mani-pedis, binging on Netflix, or eating a pint of ice cream may be the first to mind. The truth is, that we often start with some multitude of variety of actions and mindsets to really work and benefit you. Self-care is a practice that can be applied to many different areas of your personal, social, mental, emotional, and physical life."

If you're taking care of your routine appearance all the while you're neglecting your mental health, you're not practicing self-care. Secondarily but not any less important, you aren't really practicing self-care. We can do all of the face masks and plan every Netflix movie night we want, but if we're not doing the work we're neglecting our emotions, we're setting self-damage.

Next, we aren't starving self-care isn't be a one-cup of Green Tea every day. Self-care is a practice that can be applied to many different areas. It's important to remember that self-care of the two performances have the details required to maintain a healthy lifestyle and stable mental state."

Click here to read more

National Schizophrenia Awareness Day - July 25

"National Schizophrenia Awareness Day on 25 July shines a light on the everyday challenges for millions of people living with a diagnosis of schizophrenia and how we can tackle the stigma and misinformation surrounding it."

Click here to read more

National Disability Independence Day - July 26

"In the United States, July 26 is recognized annually as National Disability Independence Day. This day commemorates the signing of the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) into law in 1990.

The landmark legislation has served as a de facto bill of rights for disabled Americans, ensuring equal access to jobs, public accommodations and civic opportunities. Its passage represented an unprecedented bipartisan effort to acknowledge the centuries of discrimination faced by disabled people and to create a framework of meaningful change to how they live their lives."

Click here to read more

AUGUST

These resources are helpful for the month of August, although intended to highlight themes from the Mental Health calendar for August.

International Day of the World's Indigenous People August 9

There are an estimated 50 million indigenous people in the world living across 90 countries. They represent around 5% of the global population, but, despite this abundance, but account for 15 per cent of the poorest. They speak an overwhelming majority of the world's estimated 7,000 languages and represent 5,000 different cultures.

Indigenous peoples are inheritors and practitioners of unique cultures and ways of relating to people and the environment. They retain social, cultural, economic and political characteristics that are distinct from those of the mainstream societies in which they live.

Often their ancestral territories and environment are integral to their cultural, spiritual, material and economic well-being. Due to their unique characteristics and traditional livelihoods, they are frequently among the most marginalized groups in society. Despite international recognition of their rights, they continue to face challenges to the enjoyment of their human rights and fundamental freedoms, including their collective rights, in areas such as culture, education, health, employment, language, and political participation. Furthermore, they are frequently the victims of human rights violations, including the loss of their traditional lands, territories and natural resources, as a result of activities such as mining, logging, farming, dam construction and tourism.

Click here to learn more

Women's Equality Day - August 26

"This amendment was passed in 1920 and it banned states and the federal government from denying the right to vote to citizens of the United States based on sex. Several amendment and a measure aims to the cause of some since the nation. The right to vote is fundamental to the democratic process and it meant that women finally had a voice in choosing the leaders who would govern their affairs. Women became political representatives with the ability to influence the outcome of elections and as a result, the course of the nation.

This amendment was passed in 1920 and it banned states and the federal government from denying the right to vote to citizens of the United States Constitution, which prohibits states and the federal government from denying the right to vote to citizens of the United States based on sex."

Click here to learn more

National Grief Awareness Day - August 30

Photo by Mary Anne Fernandez

National Grief Awareness Day

"All of us have experienced grief in one way or another throughout our lives. As a result of the pandemic, many people have experienced grief in ways that are important to take. Sorrow and suffering, although painful, are a natural reaction to loss. Grief can be described as the feelings of deep sorrow that someone can feel when a loved one dies. Grief can also be a strong feeling, depression, and anxiousness."

Click here to learn more

International Overdose Awareness Day - August 31

"International Overdose Awareness Day (IOAD) - held on August 31 every year - is the world's largest annual campaign to end overdose, remember without stigma those who have died and acknowledge the grief of family, friends and communities."

See Pathway Pin Option 3 "Organizing the number of your community either as an event together."

Click here to learn more

SEPTEMBER

These resources are helpful for the month of September, although intended to highlight themes from the Mental Health calendar for September.

National Suicide Prevention Month

If you or someone you know is struggling or in crisis, help is available. Call or text 988, or text MHA to 741741.

No Suicide Attempt Should Be Dismissed Or Treated Lightly! Why Do People Attempt Suicide?

A suicide attempt is a clear indication that someone is struggling and needs immediate help. The majority of suicides worldwide are related to mental health disorders; depression, substance use, and psychosis are the biggest risk factors.

Click here to learn more

National Recovery Month

Photo by Brooke Cagle on Unsplash

'If you live with mental illness, you may be struggling to find treatment, manage your medication and cope with life's challenges effectively.

There is ample cause for hope. You are not alone, help is available, mental health conditions are treatable, and you can take practical steps to recover your life. Here you'll find interactive tools and resources to help you better understand your treatment options, work closely with your health care provider, learn about the supports available to you, and start on your recovery journey."

Click here to learn more

National Suicide Prevention Week - September 8-14

Suicide Prevention Data from MHAscreening.org

Suicide is one of the leading causes of death in the United States. Click below to see more information.

Click here to learn more

World Suicide Prevention Day - September 10

World Suicide Prevention Day 2024

"Suicide remains a critical global issue, affecting individuals and communities worldwide. In an effort to address this issue and encourage positive change, the theme for World Suicide Prevention Day (WSPD) 2024-2026 has been announced as "Changing the Narrative on Suicide".

The aim of the theme is to raise awareness about the importance of changing the narrative surrounding suicide and transforming how we perceive this complex issue. Changing the narrative requires systemic change. It's about shifting from a culture of silence and stigma to one of openness, understanding, and support.

Keep an eye on this page in the coming weeks as we add further information, valuable resources, campaign assets and events."

Click here to learn more

Yom Kippur - September 24-25

World Physical and Mental Health During the High Holy Days

"Before I learned to read Hebrew, the High Holy Days could wreck me. The language of "sin" and "repentance" that I learned as a child sent me into a tailspin of despair. Avinu Malkeinu [Our Father, Our King] was a fearsome image before which I cowered, a failure. A whole day of that, plus fasting, sent me into a black pool of depression. Even the relatively lighter "hit" of Rosh Hashanah was hard."

Click here to learn more

MARK YOUR CALENDARS

July

All Month Long Themes - BIPOC Health Month Disability Pride Month

National Minority Mental Health Awareness Month

1 - International Joke Day

2 - Sarcoma Awareness Month

*6 – Islamic: Ashura – Hijri New Year: Islamic New Year

*9 – Baha'i: Martyrdom of the Bab

10 – Martyrdom of the Bab

*23 – Rastafarian: Birthday of Haile Selassie

24 – Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints: Pioneer Day

24 -International Self-Care Day

25 - National Schizophrenia Awareness Day

25 - World Drowning Prevention Day -

26 - National Disability Independence Day

27 – Tisha B'Av

28 - World Hepatitis Day

30 - National Grief Awareness Day

August

*1 – Lughnasadh

9 – International Day of the World's Indigenous People:*

13 – Tisha B'Av

15 – Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

16-17 – Hindu: Krishna Janmashtami

18 – Lord Krishna's Birthday

21 – Jain: Paryushana begins

*25 – Arbaeen

26 – Krishna Janmashtami

26 – Women's Equality Day

27 – Hindu: Ganesh Chaturthi

30 - National Grief Awareness Day

31 - International Overdose Awareness Day

31 – Ganesh Chaturthi: Hindu festival celebrates Lord Ganesha's birth

September

All Month Long Themes -

National Suicide Prevention Month

National Recovery Month Hispanic Heritage Month (9/15-10/15) - Latinx/Hispanic Communities and Mental Health

Week long themes

8-14 National Suicide Prevention Week

*5 – Mawlid al-Nabi

8-14 - Assisted Living Week

10 - World Suicide Prevention Day

11 – Coptic Orthodox Christian: Nayrouz

15-17 – Rosh Hashanah: Jewish New Year

15-Oct 15 – National Hispanic Heritage Month

20 – HeForShe

21- 29 – Mabon

*22 – Pagan and Wiccan: Mabon

*23-24 – Jewish: Rosh Hashanah

24- 25 – Yom Kippur

25 - National Psychotherapy Day

27 – Mawlid

28-October 2 – Hindu: Durga Puja

29-Oct 6 – Sukkot

29-Oct 14 – Pitru Paksha

Reminder: All holidays marked with * begin the prior evening.

Also consider the following calendars for other important dates:

2024 Interfaith Calendar

2024 Diversity Calendar

Mental Health Ministries, a program of Pathways to Promise, creates and promotes resources to help erase the stigma of mental health challenges in our faith communities. Join us in making a difference for those with mental health challenges and those who love and support them.

Click the button below to give a monthly gift of $30 (just $1 a day) or a one-time amount of $120 (which equals just $10 a month) or any amount you choose. You may also send a check to Pathways to Promise at the address below.

Thank you for joining us in supporting mental health needs!

Click here to give now

Pathways to Promise
P.O. Box 9768
Kansas City, MO 64134
(816) 937-4710
admin@pathways2promise.org

www.pathways2promise.org

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe from this list.